The San Andreas Fault

"The San Andreas fault is a significant hazard and is primed for another big earthquake, as great as a magnitude 8."

Yuri Fialko, Scripps Researcher

"The San Andreas is 10 months pregnant."

Tom Rockwell, Geologist, SDSU

"The San Andreas Fault has the highest probability of being southern California's next earthquake."

Pat Abbott, Professor Emeritus, SDSU

What you will learn:

- What are the fault lines that threaten The North County?
- How likely is a tsunami along our coastline?
- What can we expect from a "big" San Andreas-caused earthquake?
- What disruptions in power, water & food supplies, and communications can we expect?
- What are we supposed to do to survive these types of disasters?
- What steps of preparation should we make in advance of these large scale disasters?
